13.7-TON SPUTNIK PUT INTO ORBIT BY RUSSIA

Reader's Digest Editor Relaxes, Suns in Village

By PEYTON CANARY

No stories to edit, no material to rewrite, no research to do on the rapid growth of the desert area.

Lots of Palm Springs sunshine, a swim in the pool, and the luxury of listening to Mrs. MacRae read short items from the 12,300,000 issue Reader's Digest while he nods to the strains of a long-play record are the basic ingredients of the rest.

SWAPPING SHOP talk with former Reader's Digest display ad executive Tommy Thomas, who retired to Blue Palms ownership here, fills in the day. Evenings are given to the Palm Springs options of renowned entertainment or a quiet session of after dinner talk.

"It takes three months to put out an issue of the Digest," MacRae told The Desert Sun. All material is read, re - read and meticulously checked by an editorial research staff which MacRae once headed.

"We publish about 50 per cent reprints from other sources, and 50 per cent original material," MacRae said, adding "we would like to print almost everything from other sources."

SOURCES FOR THE internationally read monthly include:

— Unsolicited manuscripts totaling 15,000 to 20,000 annually, "and most of them not from amateurs;"

— Little end of the page fillers flowing in at the rate of 20,000 annually;

— The entire world of books, magazines and other major publications in the nations served by Reader's Digest and its foreign - language Selections from the Reader's Digest.

— Personal Experience contributions — totaling 150,000 manuscripts to date.

THE DIGEST, WITH 150 editorial staff workers in the domestic edition, still utilizies a format giving two - thirds of the publication to editorial matter, MacRae said.

An edition editor three years, MacRae shares with three other senior editors the task of putting out the actual issues of the do-

RECIFE, Brazil (UPI)—Brazil formally returned the hijacked cruise ship Santa Maria to Portuguese military attache Col. Joaquin Da Luz today and Da Luz said he hoped there would never be a similar hijacking ever again.

The formal ceremony came as Henrique Galvao, leader of the rebel band that seized the 20,900 ton liner and its 607 passengers and 380 crewmen Jan. 22 was reported to be trying to take his case to the World Court.

THE HANDING over was done by Brazilian Adm. Dias Fernandes, commander of the Third Naval District here, who carried out the negotiations that led to Galvoa's surrender late Friday after repeated threats to blow up the ship.

The ceremony took place in Fernandes headquarters here. He made a brief speech saying he was delivering the ship in the name of the Brazilian government. Da Luz thanked him and said he hoped such an affair would never happen again on the high seas.

DA LUZ IN TURN will return the ship to Captain Simoes Maia, the man who was in charge when the rebel band struck. The crew was expected to be allowed to return to the Santa Maria to return the ship to Portugal.

During the night two tugs brought the Santa Maria closer to the dock and she was moored to the quay this morning.

Stars Attend MRA Premiere Here Friday

It will be shown at matinee and evening performances today and Sunday.

The first night audience heard Rajmohan Gandhi, grandson of the Mahatma, describe this film as "America's answer to Khrushchev's bid for world take-over." Gandhi told the audience which included Mayor Frank Bogert, "Palm Springs is a wonderful place and it appears to provide all the comforts man could want. But we have got to face the facts. These are dark and dangerous days and the hour is late. Only if Americans live and give the ideology of Moral Re - Armament to the world can Communism be defeated."

New York Hard Hit By Storm

Near-Blizzard Moving into New England

By United Press International

A near-blizzard slammed up the Atlantic coast on gale winds, smothered New York City under 5 to 10 foot drifts and pounded into New England today.

The great storm left thousands of persons stranded on clogged expressways and bogged - down commuter lines, paralyzed air traffic in New York, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

IT DUMPED 5-FOOT drifts on New York's Park Avenue and turned the nation's largest city into a snow-covered cemetery of skyscrapers.

The massive winter storm system claimed a steadily mounting toll of lives and heightened hardships of Easterners chilled by a record breaking, 17-day cold wave.

AT LEAST 35 persons died of exposure, heart attacks from shoveling snow, accidents on icy highways or other weather-attributed causes since the storm whipped up in the Midwest Thursday, dumped a foot of snow on Iowa and slammed eastward.

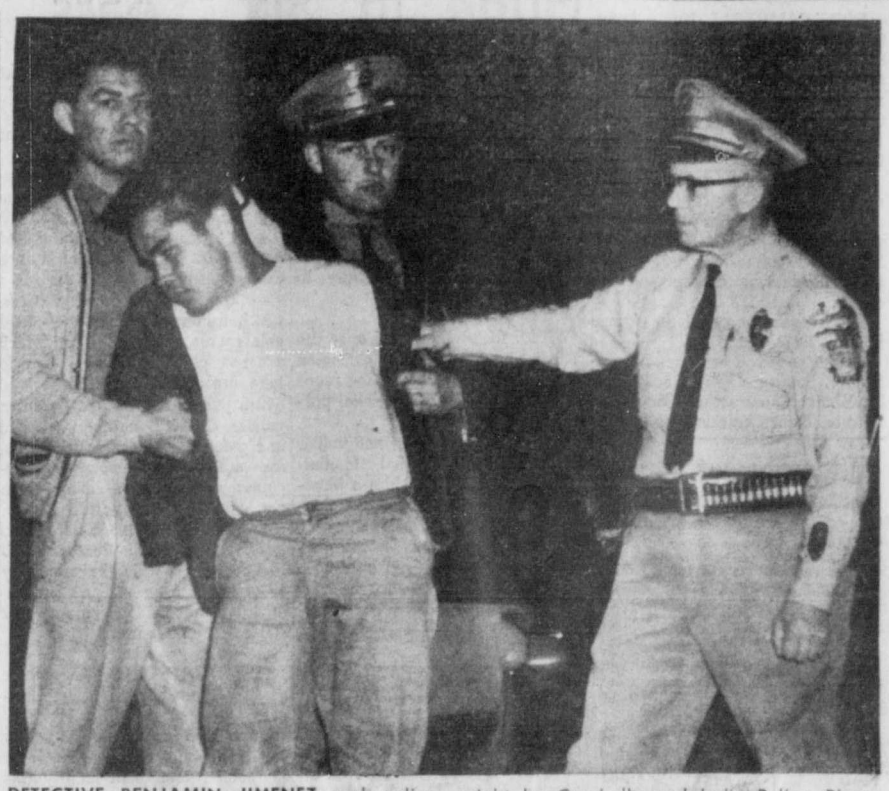
United Press International counted 6 deaths in Ohio, 5 in Illinois, 4 in Wyoming, 3 each in Michigan and Tennessee, 2 each in Iowa, Missouri, Indiana, Pennsylvania and New York, and single deaths in Virginia, Georgia, Kentucky and Wisconsin.

BROWNIES PLAN TO BRIGHTEN DAY WITH GIFTS

Angel View Crippled Children's youngsters will have a happier Valentine's Day — thanks to some Palm Springs Brownie scouts whose hearts are in the right place.

The Brownies will journey to the Desert Hot Springs clinic on Feb. 13 — the day before the annual hearts and flowers observance — to present the crippled children with flower nosegays and candy apples they've fashioned themselves.

The Brownies are from Troop Crea - Ki - Wo, which is composed of girls from Cahuilla, Cielo Vista and Katherine Finchey schools.



DETECTIVE BENJAMIN JIMENEZ and police officers John Ball and Frank Sheppy, all of Coachella Police Department, place handcuffs on Phillip Romero, 21, Coachella, after a raid which was executed throughout the night by Coachella and Indio Police, Riverside Sheriff's deputies, and State Narcotic Agents. Fifteen men were arrested for possession and selling of narcotics and barbituates. (P. S. Newsphoto)

Coal Dust, Mud Avalanche Hits Belgian Town

MOULIN - SOUS - FLERON, Belgium (UPI) — Rescue workers clawed through slimy, black mud today in search for victims of a slag heap avalanche that swept down on this mining village.

Six bodies already were recovered and at least eight other persons were reported missing and presumed dead.

A MILE-LONG avalanche of coaldust and mud rumbled down on this quiet town Friday night, swallowing homes and vehicles and burying people alive.

Floodlights were set up to assist firemen, army engineers and rescue workers who dug frantically in the search for possible survivors.

TEAMS OF WORKERS burrowed into a million cubic yards of ashes and mud which snapped electric poles like matchsticks and plunged this tiny village into darkness.

15 ARRESTED IN NARCOTICS RAIDS

COACHELLA—Chief of Police Wesley Barrett and State Narcotic Agent Charles J. McLaughlin led a total of 28 police officers, sheriff's deputies and state narcotic agents on a series of raids that netted "several thousands of dollars" in narcotics and barbituates.

A total of 15 men were arrested in the series of raids handled throughout the night by Coachella Police Department, Riverside County Sheriff's office, Indio Police Department and State Narcotic investigators.

INVESTIGATORS, INCLUDING 10 Sheriff's deputies, eight Coachella Police officers, five State Narcotic investigators out of San Diego, and four Indio police officers, started raids at 7 p.m. last night and made the last arrest at 5 a.m. this morning.

Paul Bigrigg, 56, Fresno liquor store owner fatally shot in a desperate gun battle with three men attempting to hold up his sotre Thursday morning, was well known in the Desert area.

He served here during World War II and frequently piloted his private plane on visits to this area.

Bigrigg fatally wounded one man and seriously wounded another in the fight.

Largest Launched To Date

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union today put into an orbit a 7.13-ton satellite, the heaviest launched by man, as part of a Soviet plan for perfecting space ships of increased weight, the Tass News Agency announced.

The agency did not say if the new satellite carried any form of life but described the object as a "Sputnik" and said it was circling the earth every 89.9 minutes, it said the orbit was "close" to the one desired.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT said the Sputnick was launched "by means of an improved multi-stage rocket. The Sputnik weighs 6,483 kilograms, not counting the weight of the last stage of the carrier rocket."

The launching was "in conformity with the plan for designing and perfecting space ships of increased weight," Tass said.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT used the term "Sputnik" to describe the object, not "spaceship" as it did in prescribing two previous launchings. Sputnik is Russian for satellite.

The heaviest object previously lifted into space was Spaceship II, launched Dec. 1 and weighing five tons. It burned out in re-entering the earth's atmosphere.

The Soviets sent two dogs, mice and other plant life into space and returned them safely last August. That spaceship weighed 4.6 tons.

TODAY'S ANNOUNCEMENT said a radio-telemetric control system for trajectory measurements was installed in the latest Sputnik.

"The whole system of apparatus on board the satellite functioned normally while it was being put into orbit and during its further movement along the orbit," it said.

GERMAN SCIENTISTS at Bochum, Germany, said they picked up Russian words in Morse code from space Friday night, touching off some speculation the Russians might be trying to place a man in orbit.

MONDAY MEETING

6 Desert Items Set for Board

An agenda of only six items concerning the Desert area is included in more than 60 matters that will be acted upon by the Riverside County Board of Supervisors Monday at its regular meeting in the county court house.

Two of these requests from the Palm Desert Chamber of Commerce to change the hours for burning trash and for the improvement of the frontage road on the north side of Highway 111.

Under miscellaneous matters the board will receive two recommendations: To execute a deed to Budsen Company on sale of property at Thermal Airport and a request of the Idyllwild County Water District for an easement for a well.

Discussion by the board of an ordinance regulating private patrols has also been set.

TWO PERSONS WERE injured when one failed to make a boulevard stop at Avenue 54 and Highway 99 near Valerie Jean's Date center, California Highway Patrol reported. James C. Marshall, 34, Thermal, sustained the worst injuries, and Joseph Lesica, 66, of Westmorland, received minor injuries. Both vehicles were totally damaged. The two men were taken to Casita Hospital in Indio. (P.S. Newsphoto)

MEXICAN REQUEST

Braceros Leave Struck Ranches

EL CENTRO (UPI) — Fifteen struck Imperial Valley lettuce ranches today were without the services of 1,734 Mexican workers as a result of a federal decision ordering removal of the barceros for their "health and safety."

The order, announced late Friday by Glenn E. Brockway, chief of the U. S. Labor Department's regional office in San Francisco, came as a major blow to growers currently trying to harvest an $18.5 million lettuce crop while opposing a union drive to organize farm workers.

THE GROWERS arready were reported hard hit by freezing weather in the East which has ruined $10 million worth of lettuce during shipment, accordin to Lettuce Growers Association President Mike Schultz.

Action to remove the imported Mexican workers was taken after the request of a Mexican embassy spokesman in Washington who said his government wanted the workers taken from the trouble spots and put on 985 other Imperial Valley farms not affected by the strike.

SUCH A REQUEST can be made under the terms of a U. S. -Mexico treaty when the Mexican government feels the health and safety of the workers are endangered.

Labor strife in the rich farming valley centered around attempts by the United Packinghouse Workers of America and the AFL-CIO Agricultural Workers Organizing Committee to organize the farm work force and demand an increase in minimum hourly wages from the present 90 cents to $1.25.

NEW BILLBOARDS DOT 111--BERKEY

Billboard problems loomed anew this week at the County Board of Supervisor meeting when Supervisor George Berkey remarked that a lot of new frameworks with billboards have cropped up recently along Highway 60-70-99 between Banning and the Highway 111 turnoff to Palm Springs.

"They've been put up within the last month, " he declared, "since the new law prohibiting them in the M-3 zone became effective."

Supervisor Norman Davis of Beaumont noted that a number have gone up recently in his district also, in the vicinity of the junction of Highway 60-70 and Highway 99 west of Beaumont.

The supervisors instructed Ray Smith, land use director, to give a report on what enforcement measures of the new billboard law are being taken.

The discussion was touched off by a letter from the Soroptimist Club of Coachella Valley protesting the promiscuous use of billboards on scenic highways.

TYPICAL RANCH CLUB ESTATES home is this rambling, low-level, ranch-type dwelling located in the square-mile development of the Ranch Construction Company. Both the construction firm and the development have been started under the direction of Noel Clarke, who has made impressive strides since obtaining the Ranch Club six years ago. (Desert Sun Photo)

GUIDED BY NOEL CLARKE

Ranch Club Grows Huge in Six Years

An incredible story of growth over a short six - year span has been amassed by the Palm Springs Ranch Club under the guidance of owner Noel Clarke.

A revelation of the accomplishments Clarke has recorded during his direction of the Palm Springs landmark was the subject for review during the club's sixth anniversary party held recently in the club.

WHEN CLARKE TOOK over the Ranch Club, the facility consisted of nine hotel rooms, a dining room and some limited recreational pursuits.

Clarke, in a manner not unlike that of a professional football coach, gathered about him a handpicked "team" capable of performing a specific assigned task.

He obtained Arthur Robinson to manage his Ranch Club operation and Robinson in turn selected other persons to aid the Clarke enterprise.

TODAY, SIX YEARS later, the Ranch Club consists of:

— A greatly enlarged, completely renovated main hotel and dining room.

— A series of rental units dotted liberally over an acre of Ranch Club property.

— The Ranch Country Club, which centers about an 18 - hold golf course, nine holes of which are now playable. A man - made lake draws from a 495-foot well which pumps a total of 2½-million gallons daily. Beautifully trapped and greened, the course fronts before a modern clubhouse that includes a pro shop, dining room and — soon — a cocktail lounge.

— The Ranch Club Estates and Ranch Construction Company, allied operations which have already provided scores of distinctive, luxury homes and which are now started on 250 more.

EVEN THE ORIGINAL edifice has undergone some striking changes.

Three swimming pools glorify the Ranch Club proper where only one such recreational facility was evident six years ago. A completely renovated series of tennis courts offer court enthusiasts some of the livest play available here in Palm Springs.

The Ranch Club's famed stables, where the crack riders of American society mount up along with show business personalities and Palm Springs' own distinguished citizenry, still maintains the flavor of the Old West.

In the clubhouse, an enlarged dining room — with dining terrace — handle a maximum of dining needs. And the club's Corral Room and new Naughty Nineties Room cater to the club - going crowd. (The Nineties is a Clarke brainchild, complete with nickle sandwiches, velvet and bead decor, honkey-tonk piano and scantily clad barmaids.)

CLARKE'S CHOICE of personnel hasn't altered in the six years he's operated the Ranch Club facilities. In addition to Robinson, he's acquired the services of such as:

Joe Calwell, golf pro for the Ranch Country Club and one of the most highly - regarded teaching pros in the West today.

Tom Sills, manager of the Ranch Construction Company, under whose guidance the series of Ranch Club Estates homes have taken shape.

John Bennett, Ranch Country Club manager, vital addition to the imposing lineup of name management.

"Sheriff Joe" Jirgo, who mans the Ranch Club's wagon - wheel gate and heads the security alignment at the club.

Jim Chandler, who operates the popular Ranch Club Stables with its old stage coach, buckboard and full corral of prime riding horses.

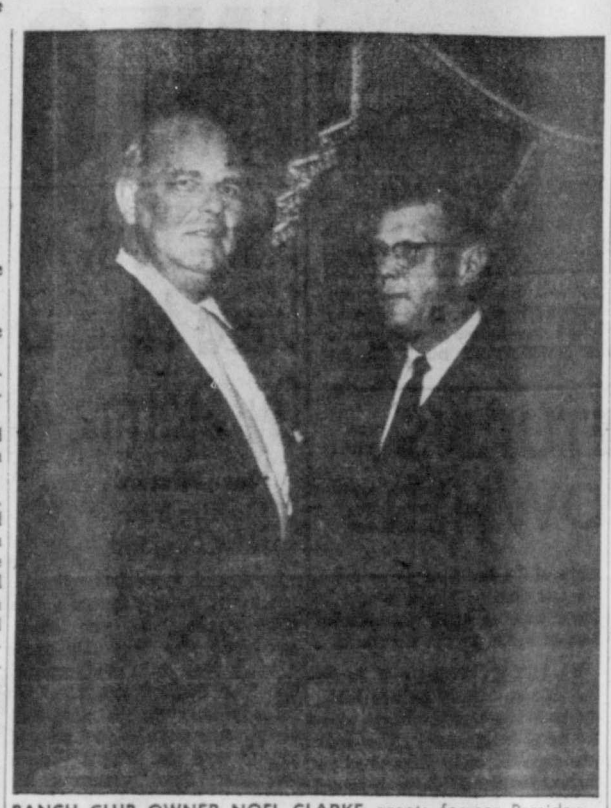
Eddie Pierce, bar manager for the club, who has been with Clarke since the club came under the Clarke aegis.

John Guzman, chef, who has resisted the pleas of other food establishments in the area and thus continues to provide Ranch Club guests and regulars with the best of foods.

CLARKE'S PLAN? More of the same in the next six years.

"We've seen the Ranch Club's potential vividly illustrated here in the past several years," he said. "We feel that this potential is only now beginning to be tapped."

With the handwriting on the wall, so to speak, the Ranch Club can point to an illustrious past as the indication of even greater things to come.



RANCH CLUB OWNER NOEL CLARKE greets former Presidential Presss Secretary James Hagarty during President Eisenhower's last visit to Palm Springs. The scene occurred in the Ranch Club's "Naughty Nineties" Room when Clarke feted the visiting Washington press corp. Many personalities and celebrities routinely stay at or visit the Ranch Club. (P. mestic magazine. MacRae and his wife came to Palm Srpings via Tucson after he completed the February issue. He will return to the Pleasantville N. Y. office to assemble the June issue.

THE 18 FOREIGN language issues, primarily filled with selections from the domestic Readers Digest, are assembled by staffs of nationals in the nation of publication. The editors of the editions refer to the Pleasantville office all material originating in their nation they think is of general interest, or in their own country.

Founder and publisher DeWitt Wallace and his wife, Lila, now spend six months following every word of new issues — and six months completely away from the operation, MacRae said.

"When Wally is home, he watches everything. But if I want to include an article he doesn't, he will tell me — "better wait til I'm away," MacRae said. Wallace, trusting the experienced judgment of his editors, makes no objections to inserting such articles when he is out of the office.

MacRAE .WHO JOINED the Reader's Digest in 1936, the editorial department in 1945, follows his love for literature in the writing success of married daughter Anita."

"Anita's book "Casey, the Utterly Impossible Horse," was very popular with children. She has just published a detective story," "Death in View," co-authored with a girl friend under their joint maiden names, Travis MacRae," Mrs. MacRae smiled. She inherited her talent from her father, Mrs. MacRae beamed.

"Of course," MacRae grinned, adding, "but fortunately she looks like her mother."

Manager and Mayor Tell Need for City's Full Support

A full scale promotion and educational program concerning the coming bond election for the purchase of the Palm Springs Airport will be undertaken to better acquaint the people of Palm Springs with the need for the facility.

"Of little knowledge to local voters is the important part that the bond issue plays in the future of all Palm Springs residents in particular, and to the entire desert area in general," said City Manager Dan Wagner, after enlisting the help of several local area groups support of the airport purchase.

THE AIRPORT, WHICH is contained in a total of 794.54 acres, will be purchased in two pieces, the first under the bond issue, and the second — a total of some 120 acres — in allotted Indian land which will be purchased with monies received by the city from the federal government.

The total amount of the proposed bond issue is $3,000,000, Wagner said.

According to Mayor Frank Bogert, the future for the payoff of the bonds looks "good" for the people of Palm Springs. Even before the airport is purchased, some of the country's leading companies are asking for acreage on the airport for major developments.

ONE OF THE largest to make a request for property on the airport was Safeway Properties, Inc., who has asked for a long lease on 21 acres of land for construction of a major shopping center with the principal business being a large department store. Two other formal offers have been made, and several "inquiries" have also been made.

Mayor Bogert said Wednesday night at the council session that there has been "a lot of interest in the airport land for development."

The mayor also mentioned that the purchase of the airport by the people of Palm Springs may solve many other problems which to date have plagued the resort community.

ONE OF THESE is the initiation of a low - cost housing project eyed for the north - east corner of the land. According to the mayor backers have approached the city seeking such a project.

"The Palm Springs Airport is the life blood of Palm Springs. To the working men and women in the community the loss of the airport could well mean the crash of Palm Springs economy," said the mayor. "They must be educated to this fact — we badly need their support."

The economic factor of the airport is better explained in reports made to the city.

USO Marks 20th Anniversary

Today the USO is 20 years old.

Many people perhaps have thought that this organization which has entertained millions of servicemen went out of existence with the end of shooting, but this is far from true.

We are in a conflict which some call the cold war, and American troops are stationed throughout the world. We have more than one million men in far-off places where different languages, customs and ways of life remove them from the way of life they knew back home.

At this time the USO continues to be a vital answer in the maintenance of military morale, recognized by all services and by all ranks, top to bottom, at home and abroad. There are now more than 200 USO clubs in the United States, and 26 overseas.

Last year, some 40,000 civilian volunteers, men and women, young and old and the support of volunteer funds largely through the United Funds and Community Chests of America, made possible:

—36,223,768 visits to USO clubs.

—7,469,435 servings at snack bars.

—Answering 5,320,063 questions.

—Counselling 113,006 service families about marital and personal problems.

—Locating suitable housing for 116,814 dependent GI families.

—Providing overnight accommodations for 6,999,125 GI's.

—More than 2,000 performances by USO troupers to overseas audiences of around 1,000,000.

The USO is a direct answer to the two questions on the minds of GI's always: "Does anybody know I'm here?" and "Does anybody give a damn?"

It is a tangible symbol that somebody back home cares. It is a constant reminder of why he is where he is, doing what he has been trained and asked to do.

May the good work of the USO continue as long as there is a need for servicemen for the United States.

Good Place to Keep Him

Dear Abby...

... by Abigail VanBuren

DEAR ABBY: I am in my early 30's. I am married to a woman the same age. She is very young looking. In fact, she is constantly asked for her "I. D." card when we go where drinks are served.

Now for my problem: My hair has suddenly started to run grey and I am beginning to look more like her father than her husband.

My barber suggested I let him dye it. He said he coud do it to look so natural no one would know it was dyed. In your opinion would this be deceptive and morally wrong?

GRAYING FAST

DEAR GRAYING: It is no more "deceptive" or "morally wrong" for a man to dye his hair than a woman. Although in my opinion, gray hair doesn't "age" a man — it only makes him look more attractive. But black, red, green or gray . . . be glad you have enough to drag a comb through.

DEAR ABBY: How can I get a boy to like me better than any other girl? I am 14 and he is 15.

WANTS A BOY FRIEND

DEAR WANTS: Keep your hair smelling nice. Be pleasnat to his friends. Laugh as if you mean it, but don't giggle. Let him know you like him, but don't want to "own' him. Talk about things he likes to talk about. Be an attentive listener. Dress like a girl. Don't try to make him jealous. Respect his freedom. Let him lead when you're dancing.

DEAR ABBY: Paul and I were married a year ago. He was divorced and had two sons who lived with their mother. I am expecting our first baby in May. Paul says if I have a boy he wants to name it Paul, Jr. I don't want to because he already has a son named after himself. His first - born, Paul, Jr., is now 8 years old and lives two blocks from us. Am I "stubborn, narrow - minded and small" for feeling this way?

PAUL'S SECOND WIFE

DEAR WIFE: No, I think you're sensible. Tell Paul he had better come up with another name. Only one "Junior" to a Pappa.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "DESPERATE AND UNDER AGE": Send me your name and address at once and I will send you the name and address of a free Home for Unwed Mothers immediately. This will be strictly between us.

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply from Abby, send a self - addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Who pays for what? For Abby's pamphlet, "How to Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., and include a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Abby answers ALL mail.

Johnson and Mansfield

WASHINGTON, D. C. — No climate is more hostile — or more testing to true friendship — than the environment of American politics. What are the adverse influences? Well, to name a few, there are ambition, association, small differences in philosophy, big differences in temperament and — this above all — the constant mischeif - making of outsiders.

Two good friends on Capitol Hill are having their friendship severely tested. They are Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate Majority Leader, and Lyndon Johnson, the Vice President who, several years ago, picked Mansfield to be Assistant Leader and the logical successor to the post of command.

THEIR LONG friendship has been an attraction of opposites. Mansfield has the "lean" look of the thinker, which Julius Caesar, a dictator, instinctively feared and distrusted. Born in New York, but self - educated by an early wanderlust and fed by the Caesar - dreaded "hunger" for learning, Mansfield is "catholic" in more than religion. He comes close to being a universalist — what Kipling called a "cosmopolite" — but with simple, homey instincts toward persons and ideas.

Mansfield, a full professor of history and a world traveler, is as devoid of personal ambition as a politician can be. Intellectual curiosity and avidity, I think, caused him to run for the House and from there, after a decade, for the Senate, where he is now a two-termer. Mansfield was not in the least elated as Senate leadership came to him. The titles which made other men glitter have left Mike as self - effacing as ever.

LYNDON JOHNSON'S famous personality and parliamentary genius have been the making of him — but today their radiation has become a major problem. People, and especially writing people, can't quite get used to the fact that Johnson has transferred his talents from the Majority Leadership to the Vice Presidency. The other day there was a snicker in the Press Gallery as Senator Hubert Humphrey, the Majority Whip, went to the Chair and conferred in whispers with the Vice President.

"Lyndon's still running the Senate!" the reporters chortled. "There's Hubert getting his orders."

WELL, EVEN IF it looks that way at times, the appearances are deceitful. The very thing that Johnson most wants to avoid is running the Senate. For one thing, the Senate is going to turn thumbs down on some of Pesident Kennedy's proposals — and Johnson, as a big wheel in the Kennedy Administration, wants the world to know that he's on the President's side and, if necessary, at odds with the Senate.

For another thing, the Senate is going to pass a lot of legislation, some of which will be pro - Kennedy but much of which will be the familiar mixture of compromise. Having been a floor leader for ten years, Johnson looks upon the Chair somewhat as a cowboy looks upon his round - up pony. The pony should know as much about "cutting cattle" in and out of the herd as the rider does. The teamwork between the Leader and the Chair, as between the cowboy and the pony, is a got - to - be at round - up time.

FOR THIS REASON Johnson, although simultaneously busy with Administration assignments on National Security, Space and Government (integration) Contracts, must also study the ever-changing tides and sandbars of the Senate. He must work closely and confidentially with Mike Mansfield.

Among the many unfolding stories of the new Congressional session is the testing of the friendship of these two wonderful guys. Both of them, I can say without fear of contradiction, have this common belief: "There can be only one Majority Leader." But in the press coop, and on the Republican side of the aisle, the response to this would be, "Oh, yeah?"

THERE ARE MANY on Capitol Hill who do not believe — don't want to believe! — that Johnson can keep his hands off the familiar reins of power. There are others who say that the quiet and modest Mansfield may have to raise his voice some day soon to let everybody know who's boss in the Senate.

My own guess, admittedly wishful, is that the Vice President and the Majority Leader will walk away from the testing experience as better friends than ever.

It's not what's in a name
But what's in a letter,
It gets you up front
Where they see you better.

Joe Jackson, not "Shoeless" Joe" because he has shoes, is wearing them out. His new 1961 directory is being distributed.

THIS 1961 BOOK has 138 and one - third pages of names. That's better by ten and one half pages than the 1960 book.

Showing how we have grown in just a year.

There are two columns left over on the last page on which you can write notes, according to the heading.

So you can keep up with the growing population by writing their names and addresses.

At the rate we're booming along, two columns aren't enough.

BUT SPEAKING of letters, as I was at the top, two firms start out with AAA, the old triple A, and are the first listed in the book.

Then there's just an AA, which comes in for third.

Another firm lists itself as "ABC" and drops farther from the lead.

There's also an ABD which drops it into fifth place.

ONE FIRM uses the "&" sign. Now, if they spelled it out, "A- and —" instead of "A & etc" they'd be right up among the top trio.

Some firm should call itself the AAAA and grab the top prize.

Anyway, the last name in the book, ten pages later than it was last year, is Zwiebach, Louis C.

At least, he held his own.

BY DINT of arduous checking, losing my place a couple of times and having to start all over, I found that the Smiths are still well out in front, there being 134 Smiths in the book.

While some people may be trying to keep up with the Joneses, they aren't keeping up to the Smiths or even the Johnsons.

There were 65 Jones listed and 110 Johnsons, plus a dozen Johnstons and two Johnsens.

But The Desert Sun newsroom is rather exclusive.

IN ALL OF THE BOOK being distributed by Jackson, (the one with the shoes) there's only one Klotzbuecher (Don), one Canary (Peyton) one Nims (Bob), one Laine (George), two Weigels (but the same family.)

The distaf side doesn't fare as well. There are 34 Crawfords, of which Hildy is ours, and five Raymonds, of which Sue is on the staff.

AND THERE is just one Graettinger (Phat) which should occasion a sigh of relief around town.

Of course, the top name in the book's listing is Palm Springs. There are eight columns starting with Palm Springs.

Desert lags behind, taking up only slightly more than five columns.

But it's a great book, interesting reading and handy to have around.

The middle - aged woman with the nice figure may be only a bulge in a girdled cage, says Changing Times.

DICK WEST:

Indoors Was Better

WASHINGTON (UPI) — On Jan. 13, former President Eisenhower sent to Congress a message that pictured the state of the union at the end of his administration.

Monday, President Kennedy delivered in parson to Congress a message that pictures the state of the union at the beginning of his administration.

THEY WERE, I assume, talking about the same nation, but this is only guesswork on my part. When you look at the two messages together, you see different pictures.

Trying to take in both views at once makes you kind of crosseyed. I mean, seldom if ever has the state of the union changed so much in just 17 days.

From where Kennedy stood, the outlook seemed rather bleak he made it plain that he New Frontier is not synonymous with the promised land.

THE NEW PRESIDENT did, however, relieve my mind on one point. I was happy to note that he can make a public appearance without creating a snowstorm.

His administration, as you know, was born in a blizzard and learned to ice skate before it learned to walk. When Kennedy gets ready to leave the White House, the Weather Bureau automatically predicts snow flurries.

MONDAY, FOR a change, the climate here warmed up a bit, but not enough to thaw out most Republican members of Congress. Their reaction to much of Kennedy's message was a bit on the cool side.

This did not bother the Democrats who assembled in the House chamber to listen to the President. They warded off the GOP chill by beating their hands together.

AS KENNEDY was reading the message, I kept an eye on the Soviet ambassador, who was seated on the Republican side of the aisle. He didn't applaude much either.

It can't be said, though, that the ambassador plays favorites. His silence was equally stony when Eisenhower was president.

At only one point did the Republicans initiate the applause. That was when Kennedy said that "this country is ahead in the science and technology of space . . ."

IT SOUNDED like Kennedy finally was agreeing with what Nixon kept telling everyone during the ampaign. But it was a good thing the Republicans began clapping before he finished the sentence.

It had another clause saying that "the Soviet Union is ahead in the capacity to lift large vehicles into orbit." Nobody clapped about that, not even the Soviet ambassador.

I personally thought the message was a big improvement over Kennedy's inaugural address in one important respect — it was delivered indoors.

QUOTES

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, discussing the fighting in the Congo between groups of the army split between rival political leaders:

"The army itself has been and continues to be the main threat to law and order."

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy, who let a woman correspondent ask one more question even though his news conference was over, and discovered the question was a ticklish one:

"I should have let it (the conference) end then."

LONDON — Minister of War John Profumo, admitting to the House of Commons that there are some loopholes in the law prohibiting soldiers from selling arms and ammunition to get spare cash:

"A chap could flog (sell) a tank if he wanted to and you couldn't bring a charge against him under the existing conditions."

Rarity in Today's World

NEW YORK — It's true. Many men lead lives of quiet desperation. But don't class Benjamin A. Javits among them. The New York Attorney - author, who organized and is president of a group named the United Shareholders of America, is a rarity in today's world, he's completely confident about the road we should travel.

"I'm an amalgam of all the great teachers of the past," the 67 - year - old brother of New York's Senator Jack Javits told us. He stated it as a fact, not a boast. His complaint is that not enough persons listen to what he teaches. This, in brief, is the unheralded crusade of the once - poor East Side boy who put himself through Fordham Law School and made millions.

HE WANTS TO organize the 13,000,000 American Shareholders into a group as tightly knit and influential as are the nation's private organizations of veterans, trade unionists, manufacturers, lawyers, doctors, farmers and so forth.

As things now stand, Mr. Javits says, shareholders supinely let political and other factions regulate and dominate the companies in which they have invested. They don't have the unity that would enable them to fight restrictive legislation, excessive demands by labor and incompetence on the part of company executives.

"THERE MUST BE an economic electorate in this country as well as a political electorate," he told us. "We've got to cure our industrial leaders of the guilt complex they seem to possess because of the fact that they make money. We've got to teach the people, too, to bring about a standard of living in which they, too, share to the hilt. We've got to stop parroting the Russian propaganda that there is something evil about making a profit.

"The rate of a country's growth is regulated by the size of the profits of its industry. Our profits have dropped from about eight per cent to two per cent in recent years. Look at the progress West Germany and Italy have made since the end of World War II. In each case, industrial leaders took the workers aside and said, in effect, 'suffer with us for a bit until we make a lot of money. The more money we make, the bigger we'll get. There will be more jobs, then more money for everybody. The government and unions played ball, and you see the result. Russia achieved the same goals with the help of a gun at each worker's head."

MR. JAVITS SEES the Stockholders' group as an equal to any other organization in the country. Its spokesmen, he feels, should be present at all labor-management discussions and be heard by Congress before the passage of any bill affecting production, profits, tariffs and trade. They should hover over management, too, he believes, instead of being bullied or scorned. Or submissive. He points out that A. T. & T., for example, has nearly four times as many stockholders as employes.

"If the stockholders ever worked as a cohesive force they could change the course of our history," Mr. Javits asserts with confidence.

HOW'S THAT?

LONDON (UPI) — A London art gallery today ran this note on a forthcoming exhibition by a painter named Turcato: "He protects himself from identifying quality with individuality. FEBRUARY 4, 1951

A principal matter before the City Council at its meeting next week will be rezoning of the east side of Indian Avenue downtown, from residential to business.

In a surprise move which undoubtedly will cause Palm Springs city officials to do considerable checking in Riverside today, the defendants in the so-called test case of municipal rights on reservation land yesterday provided a new and interesting slant on the important case. Violating a restraining order obtained by the city to halt construction, a carpenter or two began once more to hammer away at the half completed building on the east side of Indian Avenue, just south of Amado Road, which is being constructed with a city building permit. The city will investigate before proceeding with arrests.

This is a national broadcast, and the value of this type of free advertising cannot be estimated.

CLAREMONT — The Mexican Players present one of the most humorous plays ever staged at Padua Hills Theatre with their current production.

Entitled, "Flores de Michaocan" the title translated means "Flowers of Michoacan," a Mexican state noted for its beautiful music and dances.

Written especially for the Mexican Players by stage director Eligio Herrera, the plot deals with disputes between merchants over sale of their wares to a big city buyer, involving all of the jealousies and emotional upheavals with which people everywhere are capable of displaying.

Songs and dances of the region are also presented in the authentic manner of all such interpretations by the Mexican players.

The play is staged six times weekly at Padua Hills Theatre, at matinee and evening performances each Wednesday and Saturday and evenings only every Thursday and Friday.

Hot Dog Show Goes Parisian

By GEORGE LAINE

When Ernie Glaser told your reporter that he had a man who was going to paint a Parisian mural along the wall of Ernie's new "Hot Dog Show" across the street from the Desert Inn, Glaser said a mouthful.

The artist, a man with the improbable name of Reber B. Sims (but "Bob" to his wife and friends) not only is painting the job while customers munch heavely hot dogs and out - of - this - world hamburgers,he's doing the entire thing from memory.

"IT'S BEEN A while since I was in Paris," confided Sims, over his shoulder, "but I did spend quite a bit of time there.

"Of course, you couldn't see all of this" — he gestured toward the wall where his masterpiece was taking shape — "from any one Parisian vantage point if you tried"

He's got the Paris Opera House, the Place de la Concorde, the Eifel Tower, the Grand Hotel, the Arch de Triomphe and the Seine River running across a panel roughly 15 feet wide by four feet deep. And that, as even General de Gaulle would say, is a lot of Paris in a short amount of space.

MISSOURI - BORN, Sims has worked in a number of occupations, most of them artistic. After two years in the University of Missouri's journalism school, he quit that and took up his ,first love— art — again. After an apprenticeship in the Kansas City Scenic Studios, Bob was ready to move alone. And he did.

In the following years, Sims essayed careers as an actor (with Ralph Bellamy's first stock company, at Evanston, Ill.) and as a set designer. He went Hollywood long enough to spend most of a decade doing sets for the old Goldwyn Studio, later for MGM. When the 1946 strike shut Hollywood's film industry down, Sims decided that was enough. He went free lancing.

SINCE THEN, HE'S painted everything from monkey show canvasses for circuses to exquisite murals and striking design for more hotels than you could shake a paintbrush at including some that stand today as the talk of the nation. Included in this lineup are design for the Chandelier, Heidi's Village, the Cellar Club and other locales.

Toughest job? The Grotto, at Galveston, Tex., where he had to build simulated stalagmites to create a cavelike feeling. "It wasn't much fun," Sims recalls.

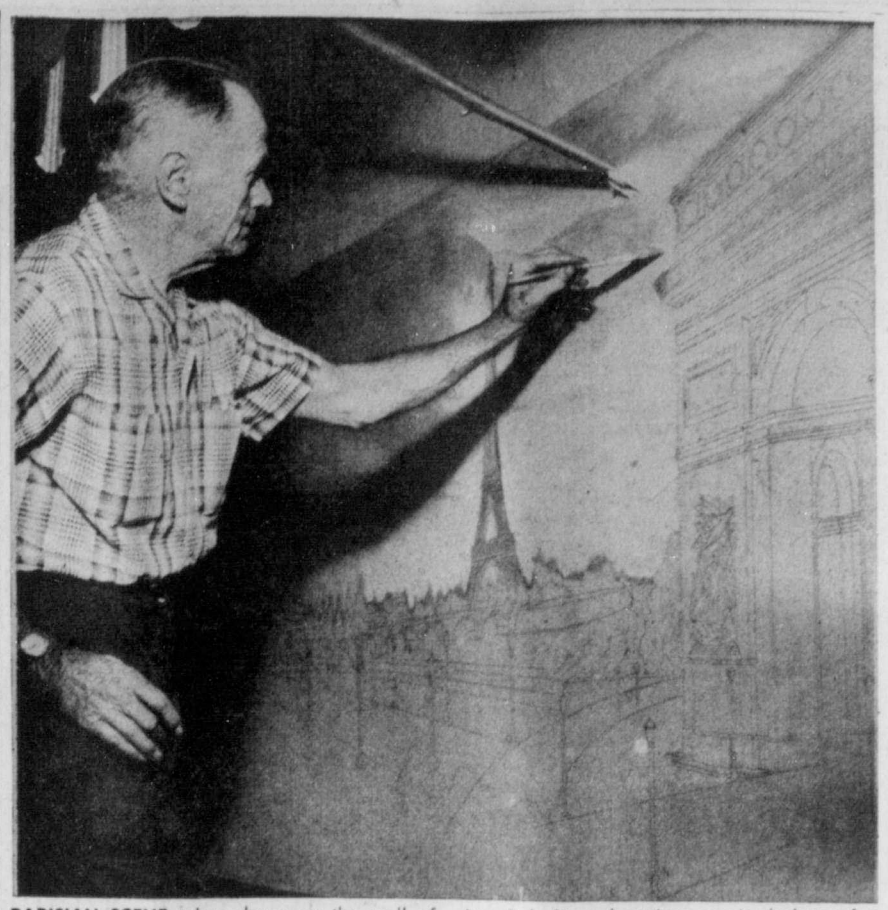
MUCH MORE JOY is the Hot Dog Show mural which he's doing for Glaser.

"It's a challenge, alright," Sims said. "Ernie knows just what he wants and I try to give it to him. Sometimes, when he's in a hurry, he lapses into French with me. My French used to be good but now about all that comes through is the profanity.

He smiled.

"I understand that."

"And I have to say I can't beat the working conditions. Ernie furnishes me with hot dogs throughout the day. They're great."



PARISIAN SCENE takes shape on the wall of the Hot Dog Show of Palm Springs, the Village's newest food emporium, which stands directly across the street from the Desert Inn. THE ANDREWS SISTERS — Patty, Maxine and LaVerne—headline the new stage show opening tomorrow night at Palm Springs Chi Chi. Featured on same show, running 12 days through Feb. 16, is Don Corey, comedian, the Peiro Brothers, juggling team, and Bill Alexander's orchestra. Curtain times are 8:45 and 11:45 at desert spa's only theater-restaurant.

AT DEEP WELL GALLERY

Desert Art Show Held 'Rewarding'

The Desert Art Center has come a long way in the three years plus that your reviewer has been examining their efforts.

In the first place — and you can see this for yourself in the Desert Art Center show now hanging in the East Gallery of the Ferrall's Playhouse at Deep Well — the DAC artists no longer dote on desert scenes. In fact, a very small minority of the paintings that dress the gallery this week utilize desert.

THERE IS, FOR instance, a series of perfectly striking efforts by Lois Sakin, including the horizontal abstract (with no name) that came from the collection of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Cracraft. It has feel, depth and great courage in use of color and I have to commend the artist for it and the Cracrafts for their good judgment in acquiring it. (Lois also has another, titled "Monterey," that is very nearly as awesome in its coloring.)

There are two unusual mosaics —done, I believe, with birdseed and other seed — by John Lenox. Although mosaics aren't my dish of tea (except for Glen Cargyle's wood mosaic poodle in the adjoining South Gallery), I'll have to admit that both the man with tiger and the oriental girl show great imagination, great use of native color in seeds.

YALLENTI'S SEASIDE village, Ida Itkin's "Taxco," and Alex Canedo's "Body Beautiful" and "Forest Pearl" also were impressive and so were some others on a less noteworthy level.

Even some of the so - called desert scenes had more than passing merit.

Take Gaylord Richmond's "Horses," which is a combination of the realistic with the abstract and a superlative use of color all at once.

W. J. Jones' subject of "Six Highway Men, Etc." found a similar use of the real with the unreal in a color - blended work that I found quite intriguing.

Mary Creamer's Indians walking was perhaps the best of the neo-realistic efforts and also demonstrated a working awareness with color, with movement, with shadow and with life.

All in all, it's a rewarding show. And a surprising one.

PALM SPRINGS — According to a special report in the current issue of Palm Springs Life magazine, few people question the necessity of the city's proposed airport purchase, but they might question the way certian facts have been glossed over by the people's representatives in their zeal to sell a $3,000,000 bond issue — such as the fact that the total purchase price will be closer to $4,000,000 than 3,000,000.

Palm Springs Life — "the Newsmagazine of the Desert Empire" — reports the vital issues in depth. The informative and entertaining features found in each issue are must reading for all desert residents who want to keep abreast of all the significant news in the area.

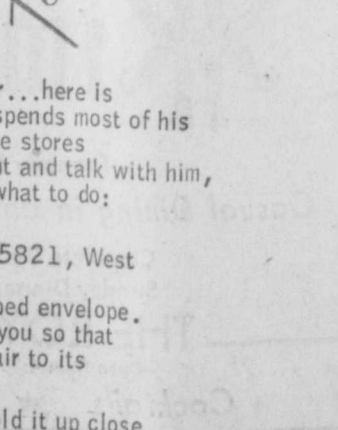
The most scientific advance for actuating color to gray hair in the last 20 years

Bon Coif . . . the French say, "Bon Kwaf" . . . is a colorless cream that activates color to faded, streaked, off-color or all-gray hair in just minutes. Discovered by Mr. John Garton, one of America's leading hair-color authorities, Bon Coif reverts the original color to hair as closely as it's humanly possible to obtain! It is not an aniline dye! Naturally your hair color goes with your eyes and complexion, because it's the color that you had before age started salting your hair with its white touch. Bon Coif can renew this color . . . but don't expect it to create a color you never had. You can change gradually with Bon Coif, or you can have an immediate color change with Bon Coif plus the Booster. If after obtaining color you want to go back to your graying hair, you can do so easily and safely by a very simple procedure, including a shampoo.

Mr. John Garton now makes this startling offer . . . he gives you the promise that convinced thousands of men and women all over the world! "If you will let me have a sample of your gray hair, I will return it to you after I have applied Bon Coif and reverted it to as near its pre-gray color as is humanly possible!"



Mr. John Garton, internationally-known hair-color authority, will be in our Cosmetics Department, February 6-10.

Hard to believe? Look in a mirror at that graying head of yours. You may want to keep it, but many others feel that it automatically "dates" them for work opportunity. This extraordinary discovery has been thoroughly tested and approved by one of America's big-name cosmetics labs.

Robinson's

If you think it is time for a change from your graying hair . . . here is your chance to do something about it! Mr. Garton now spends most of his available time consulting with customers in the many fine stores throughout America. Come in to our Cosmetic department and talk with him, February 6-10. If you can't get in to see him, here's what to do:

1. Cut off a good sample of gray hair.
2. Mail it to John Garton, Bon Coif Test, P.O. Box 25821, West Los Angeles 25, California.
3. Be sure to include your name and address on a stamped envelope.
4. John Garton will treat your own hair and return it to you so that you can see the actual proof that Bon Coif reverts hair to its pre-gray color.

Pick it up from its envelope after he has returned it . . . hold it up close to the hair on your head . . . look in the mirror . . . and . . . you be the judge.

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

Dialing and Filing...

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dialing and filing:

I've noticed a doubling-up of those double - header scripts on TV. I refer to stories of mistaken identity, where one player handles two parts. Joan Crawford did it the other night on a "Zane Grey Theater." Chris Plummer in "Prisonar of Zenda."

THOSE CHEWING GUM commercials might even come under this heading. Wednesday night, "Wanted — Dead or Alive" told a mistaken identity tale with brothers Nick and Paul Bon Tempi as the look-alikes. This episode followed a "Hong Kong" story in which Felicia Farr played a dual role.

It was "Hong Kong" that did a real double-take last week, when it was on twice in one night. But what really topped everything was the closing credits for Wednesday night's two-part role in "Hong Kong." It said: "Written by George W. George."

FOUR WORDS BY President John F. Kennedy in Wednesday's televised news conference took the rapidly accumulating headwinds out of some billowing sails.

A number of broadcasting industry VIP's and TV columnizts, including myself, have been readying arguments aimed at persuading a reluctant President to take part in TV "debates" during some future election campaign. Like, say, 1964. There had been evidence to indicate White House opposition. You know how rumors get around.

Asked whether he would be amenable, as President, to TV debates with a Republican opponent in a possible reelection bid, Mr. Kennedy quickly replied, "Oh, I would. Yes." End of problem. Meeting adjourned. Moral: Never holler before you're hit.

INCIDENTALLY, LET the record show that NBC-TV's "Peter Loves Mary" became the first filmed series to come up with a John F. Kennedy imitation.

Len Weinrib's effort on a Garry Moore show last November was taped. Art Carney's effort never got on the air. Peter Lind Hayes tossed in his sturdy J.F.K. impersonation during Wednesday night's episode.

THE SAYING IS that you mustn't tamper with success. Yet, "Perry Como's Music Hall" keeps tampering. And keeps rolling up successes. Perry's NBC-TV hour switched the format to put on an almost all-male show. Two gals managed to sneak into the stag party, but only for additional comedy mileage.

Foster Took Job to Get Out of Work

Claims Night Club Business Was Too Tough

When a man takes a job to get out of work, he has either popped his cap or found the right job—and veteran actor Preston Foster has been around long enough to know the right job when he sees it.

Foster, who stars with newcomer Tony Young in "Gunslinger" on the CBS Television Network, says "I quit the night club business just to get out of work" — and less than 48 hours later, he notes, he had signed with producer Charles Marquis Warren on the new hour-long series as rugged U. S. Cavalay Captain Zachary Wingate.

"FOR TWO YEARS," he says, "I've been the official host at the Last Frontier Hotel in Las Vegas. Every night I would greet, usher and entertain people from all over the world. And when you're involved in the business end of the hotel game, like I was, it meant you had to put in a full day's work — and lots of nights. I just didn't have time for myself, my family, or golf."

A favorite on the motion picture screen for more than three decades, Foster says he took the position in Las Vegas because he has always liked the desert spa.

Phases of Life In Ireland on Century TV

Actress Siobhan McKenna, Premier Sean Lemass and several of their distinguished compatriots discuss various phases of Irish life, including the role of women in contemporary Ireland, in Part II of "Ireland: The Tear and the Smile" on "The Twentieth Century" Sunday, Feb. 5 (6:30 - 7 p.m.) on the CBS Television Network.

CBS News Correspondent Walter Cronkite is narrator of the special two - part program which focuses on modern Ireland's accomplishments and activities.

Miss McKenna, on the Feb. 5 program, reminisces about her childhood in Belfast and recalls several Irish notables she has known.

On the same program dress designer Sybil Connolly and Barbara Dickson, Women's editor of The Irish Times — the country's leading Protestant newsapper — are interviewed by Cronkite on woman's place in Ireland today.

Mrs. Dora C. O'Brien, one of the four women members of the Irish Senate, is interviewed on the same subject

GUEST STAR SUSAN OLIVER adds to the series's "new look" format when she plays a kidnap hostage who is rescued from a prison escapee in a storm-swept lighthouse on the Southern California coast by Ron Ely, regular star of "The Aquanauts," Wednesday, Feb. 8 (CBS Television Network, 7:30 - 8:30 p.m., p.s.t.).

STARS AS YANKEE SOLDIER

Dobie Gillis' Big Brother Now Has Television Series of His Own

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "Dobie Gillis' " big brother has latched onto a TV series of his own, starring as a Yankee soldier during the Civil War.

And to hear him tell it, the North lost the war between the states.

"He" is Darryl Hickman, (older by three years) brother of Dwayne Hickman who has been a runaway hit in the "Gillis" series.

WHEN DARRYL announced he would be appearing in a show of his own the wiseacres wanted to know if it would be titled "The Many Loves of Gobie Dillis" or "The Many Hates of Dobie Gillis."

Fortunately, Darryl's program is titled "The Americans," a story of two brothers (the other played by Dick Davalos) who fight on different sides of the Mason-Dixon Line. Davalos, by virture of playing a Confederate dogface, gets the best treatment.

HE CAN KILL hundreds of Yankees without fear of being a heavy But Darryl can't raise a hand against the rebels for fear the South will rise again, and kick the show off the air.

"There's plenty of apprehension about this show," Darryl said ruefully. "Everyone is afraid the South will be offended.

"To keep the situation from starting another kind of a war they have given all the colorful heroics to Dick, and I'm stuck with playing a colorless Union soldier.

"FRANKLY, I don't know what all the panic is about. The southerns I've talked to all favor the idea. The network (NBC) and advertising agency are off the track. We don't deal with the issues of economics or slavery.

The story is simply concerned with two men in the same family fighting for different sides. That happened a lot during the Civil War."

THOUGH DARRYL, heavier set and more mature than brother Dwayne, and Davalos co - star, they rarely will be seen together. One week Darryl will have the hour-long segment to himself, showing the Yankee operations, and the next Davalos takes over for the Rebs.

"Southerners aren't as touchy about the war as most people in television think," the 29-year-old Hickman said.

"THERE IS NEVER any question of wrong or right in the series and we highlight the fact that the brothers are swayed by emotional bonds with the two sides.

"We also make it clear the bond of brotherhood transcends their beliefs. No matter what the situation, "we could never shoot one another.

TOASTMASTERS, TOASTMISTRESSES

Two Clubs Hold Joint Talkfest

The combined clubs of Toastmistress and Toastmasters met at Laurye's Steak Ranch recently with 37 members of the two clubs present.

Fred Nitchy, president of Toastmasters, acted as host, and Ruth Cassidy, president of Toastmistress was grammarian. Alan Miller was judged the best speaker of the evening. Ralph Jensen, area governor from the Indio club, acted as timer.

Fred Nitchy promises Toastmasters two interesting programs for the month of February. Meetings will be held as usual at Laurye's Steak Ranch on Feb. 2 and 16 at 7 p.m.

Ten top speakers are scheduled for the month, presenting their views on various subjects of local and national interest. Table topics, a challenge to any speaker as he is only assigned his subject as he rises to his feet, is a regular feature of Toastmasters meetings. Evaluation, wherein some member of the club states, without pulling his punches, just what he thinks of any particular speech and how the speaker may improve his next speech, is a valuable part of any Toastmasters meeting.

Hearing Slated For Zone Change

A hearing was set this week by the Board of Supervisors on a proposed change of zone from general industrial (M-3) to Single family dwelling (R-1) in the area which Michael Dunn proposes to subdivide north of the Banning - Idyllwild road between Idyllwild and Pine Cove.

MENGERT STILL ONE AHEAD IN CLASSIC

29 Palms Defeats Indians 39 to 34

Fires 68 To Lead With 201

By JOE ST. AMANT

Al Mengert, a quiet but articulate club professional who has won only $50 this year, is shooting for big money today as one-stroke leader in the 90 - hole $50,000 Palm Springs Golf Clasic.

Going into the fourth round, Mengert had a 54-hole total of 201, one notch ahead of Bob Rosburg, the former National PGA champion from Overland Park, Kan., and Palo Alto, Calif.

Mengert, 31, an unknown on the pro tour because he is usually tied down with club jobs at Phoenix, Ariz., in the winter and at St. Louis, Mo., in the summer, shot a four-under-par 68 Friday in the third round at Bermuda Dunes course. He also led at the end of two rounds, showing his heels to better known pros.

SHOOTING FOR the $53,000 top prize money after three rounds—behind Mengert and Rosburg — were Ken Venturi, Palo Alto, Calif., at 203; George Bayer, South Pasadena, Calif., 204; and four players at 206— Bill Casper, Apple Valley, Calif.; Paul Harney, Worcester, Mass.; Jay Hebert, Lafayette, La., and Billy Maxwell, Dallas, Tex.

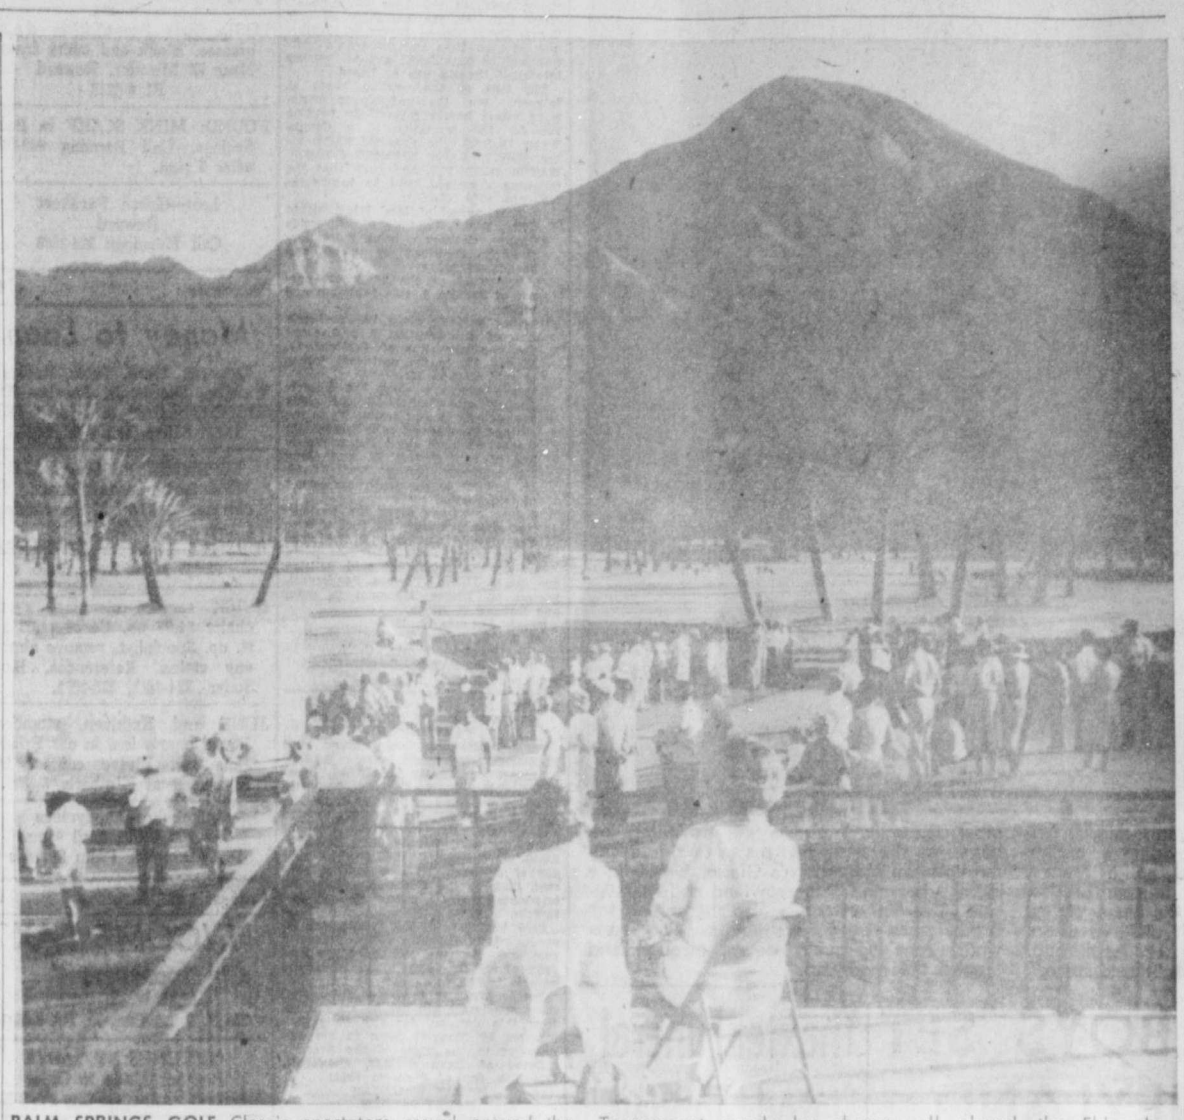
Also very much in contention at 207 were: defending classic champion Arnold Palmer, Ligonier, Pa., always a strong finisher; Art Wall, Pocono Manor, Pa., and Bob Harris, Winnetka, Ill.

MENGERT and most of the other players including Rosburg, venturi, Bayer, Hebert and Palmer today played the fourth round on the Eldorado course, considered the toughest of the five used in this tournament because of its four water holes and long and narrow fairways.

Mengert, in addition to shooting for individual pro honors, had a chance to win a substantial share of the $15,000 to be distributed among pros in the pro amateur division of this tournament— the world's longest.

Mengert was 56 under par after three rounds in the pro-am, followed By Venturi at 55 under.

The pro-am phase ends this evening and the pros go it alone for a fifth round Sunday at Tamarisk Country Club.



PALM SPRINGS GOLF Classic spectators crowd around the scoreboard and 18th green of Eldorado Country Club as the fourth day of the Classic got underway this morning. Today and tomorrow NBC television will be covering the tournament on a national TV hookup. Top leader in the Tournament, purely by chance, all played the Eldorado Course today and the top 60 professionals will vie for top cash prizes at Tamarisk Sunday. The leaders include Al Mengert, Bob Rosburg, Ken Venturi, and George Bayer. (Desert Sun Photo)

Tribe All Alone in Basement

Palm Springs High School Indians, rated as contenders in preseason dope, were all alone in the basement of the Desert Valley League as they dropped their fifth straight game to Twentynine Palms Friday night on the local floor, 34 to 39.

Riddled by injuries and without the services of Ron Studebaker, center, and Terry Morris, the Indians were stymied by the Twentynine Palms attack.

"If Studebaker had been in there, we could have won," said coach Jim Workman of the Tribe.

WORKMAN PLANS to work with his sophomores and juniors in an effort to bolster the Tribe following a series of jinx happenings that upset the pre - season calculations.

Next Tuesday night the Indians have a non - leaguer scheduled with Hemet High, now running third in the DeAnza League.

Contenders for Middle Crown In TV Feature

And the betting is at "even money" for their nationally televised ABC 10 - rounder - a New York debut for Don and a first Garden main event for Joey.

Each is the younger brother of an able fighter. Twenty-one-year-old Fullmer's brother Gene is recognized as world middleweight champion by the National Boxing Association.

Twenty - two - year - old Archer's brother Jimmy was a prominent welterweight contender but he retired two years ago because of repeated face cuts.

Utah Don, rangy and black - haired, is ranked sixth among contenders for his brother's title because of his surprise draw with Germany's Gustav Scholz at Frankfurt, Germany, Sept. 14.

Murtaugh Signs One-Year Pact with World Champs

By United Press International

Danny Murtaugh plays 'em one at the time and signs his contracts the same way.

Agreeing to a one - year pact even though he led the Pittsburgh Pirates to their first world championship in 35 years, Murtaugh signed on the dotted line Friday for an estimated $10,000 raise that brought his salary to approximately $40,000.

Murtaugh, puffing on a 50 - cent cigar, said it took about one minute for him and Pirate General Manager Joe L. Brown to agree to terms.

"IT WAS A one-year deal by mutual agreement," revealed the popular Pittsburgh skipper. "Joe said one year and I said okay."

Brown chimed in to say, "We hope to have Danny with us for many, many years. I hope it will be as long as Casey Stengel stayed with the Yankees."

Murtaugh became the last major league manager to sign for 1961, but Brown explained there never was any hurry — or any doubt — because "we're like a closely-knit family."

The Los Angeles Dodgers announced the signing of southpaw pitcher Johnny Podres and second baseman Charlie Neal.

Podres was believed to have received a modest raise for the 14-12 record he compiled last season. Both he and Neil will receive about $24,000 this year. Neal hit .256 last season.

Outfielder's Russ Snyder and Gene Stephens and rookie catcher Frank Zupo came to terms with the Baltimore Orioles, who now have signed a total of six players.

Snyder batted .260 last year and came to the Orioles along with Whitey Herzog recently from the Kansas City Athletics, who received Clint Courtney, Al Pilarcik, Bob Boyd, Wayne Causey and Jim Archer in return.

STEPHENS BATTED .235 for Baltimore, while Zupo, who was signed as a bonus player in 1957, hit .319 for Stockton of the California League.

Veteran Enos Slaughter said at his Roxboro, N. C., home that he is considering an offer to manage the new Macon club of the Southern Association.

The ex-champion also plans to hold a public workout Sunday at Cisco Andrade's training camp here in which he will box Woodard and Bobby Lee in preparation for his title fight March 4 with Gene Fullmer at Las Vegas, Ney.

Gainford and Willey wanted Robinson to continue the mountain climbing and woodchopping he had done for seven days to harden himself. Robinson felt he should start boxing.

SOW-CAPPED MATTERHORN Mountain, as tall as a 14-story building, provides a picturesque setting in Disneyland as it towers above the South Seas coral lagoon of the Submarine Voyage, one of the many sights Desert Sun carrier boys will observe when they visit Disneyland on Feb. 12. As the sub carries 38 passengers through "liquid space," other Disneyland guests are travelling airborne in the Skyway, passing directly through the Matterhorn's Glacier Grotto in a journey between Tomorrowland and Fantasyland. The Matterhorn is also the setting for Disneyland's two exciting bobsled runs which race up and down, through and around the mountain.

CARRIER BOYS SET FOR DISNEYLAND

The "world of the future" will be here on Feb 12 when the carrier salesmen of The Desert Sun visit Walt Disney's Magic Kingdom of Disneyland.

Visiting Tomorrowland — one of the five major areas or "lands" of Disneyland — the boys will see previews of the future in auto transportation, air travel, motion pictures and many other aspects of "life tomorrow."

IN ADDITION, THEY'LL have the opportunity to "submerge" aboard Disneyland's submarine fleet on the Submarine Voyage through liquid space, a trip that takes them beneth the Polar Ice and past the Lost Continent of Atlantis.

They'll drive it themselves on the freeway of the future — Autopia — where scale versions of sleek sports cars wheel brisly through the turns.

Also in Tomorrowland, Desert Sun carrier salesmen will watch the Bell Telephone System's presentation of "America the Beautiful," in unique circarama, the only 360 - degree motion picture exhibition in the United States.

NEARBY IN Tomorrowland, the story of the creation of the amazing Walt Disney animated motion pictures is told at the "Art of Animation" exhibit, another new Disneyland attraction for 1960.

Fast flying astrojet, sleek, silent all - electric Monorail and the Rocket to the Moon are all special Tomorrowland attractions for the youngsters of The Desert Sun when they visit Disneyland.

NPS Church Votes to Join New Alliance

Unanimous Vote Registered by NPS Congregation

NORTH PALM SPRINGS — At the annual meeting of the Community Church of North Palm Springs, the local congregation voted unanimously to become part of the new denomination formed by the union of the Congregational-Christian Churches and the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

The Rev. Dwight Ball, pastor of the church, spoke briefly of the national effort for the past 20 years to unite the 5,500 Congregational Churches with the 2,700 Evangelical and Reformed Churches.

He stated that the union has been completed at the national level and now requires ratification by the individual congregations. Rev. Ball reported that as of the first of the year, 94 per cent of all Congregational churches which had voted on the matter favored the union.

The North Palm Springs congregation asked Rev. Ball to clarify the position of the local church in the new denomination. He quoted from the constitution to show that the local church remains autonomous, with the right of independent action in all matters.

The church name was considered and it was decided that the local church would continue to be "The Community Church of North Palm Springs." Officially, the national name will be "The United Church of Christ." However, the local group prefers to shorten this to "The United Church" in order to avoid confusion with somewhat similarly named denominations.

MUSICAL FETE SET FOR TRINITY

INDIO — The sparkling musical team of Dean and Mary Jean Brown with the "Six-Teens" will highlight Youth Week at the Trinity Baptist Church of Indio on Sunday.

For the past two years Mary Jean Brown has been the director-arranger - pianist of the Phil Kerr "Monday Niter" chorus at the famous Monday Musicals in Pasadena. Since Kerr's recent death, the chorus has continued by giving concerts and musical programs in various churches throughout Southrn California.

BESIDES HER WORK with the chorus, Mary Jean is the originator and director of the "Six-Teens," well known teen - age sextet. She has always believed one of the best ways to reach teens for Christ is with a teen-age witness.

Over four years ago the "Six-Teens" were started. It is made up of high school girls from various churches and denominations. Since its start, nearly 30 girls have gone through its ranks. Many have gone on to college in preparation for fulltime Christian service. Their musical style is light and happy, which reflects the radiant joy they have in serving Christ.

THE PRESENT GROUP has only been together since November of 1960, but already they have been well accepted by warm audiences everywhere. Recently they were in meetings in San Diego with Merv Rosell, well known evangelist.

Completing the team is Mary Jean's husband, Dean Brown, who is a tenor soloist and spokesman for the group. Brown is well known throughout Southern California as a gospel singer, and is the former soloist and song leader at the Little Country Church of Hollywood.

The entire musical group will participate in the Sunday Morning Worship service at 11 a.m., the Youth Groups' combined meeting at 6:15 p.m., and the 7:30 p.m. Youthspiration Rally.

AT THE 11 A.M. MORNING service, the awards for "Youth-of-the-Year" will be announced. There will be an award to an outstanding boy and girl in the Junior, Junior High and High School Departments.

Richard Germaine, Youth Pastor during Youth Week, stated that teen-agers of the Valley are invited to all of the services on Youthspiration Sunday.

Trinity Baptist Church is located at Monroe and Valencia, next to the Herbert Hoover School.

HIGH COURT SETS SUNDAY LAW TEST

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

Sometime during the next few months, the U. S. Supreme Court will hand down a decision that could change your way of life.

It will decide whether Sunday is constitutional.

NOT SUNDAY AS A day of the week, but Sunday as a day of rest and worship, recognized and protected by law.

Pending before the court are four cases challenging Sunday closing laws in Massachusetts, Maryland and Pennsylvania. But the basic issue is much broader than the specific statutes of these states. It is whether any governmental body in the United States has a constitutional right to accord a special legal status to a day which is considered holy by many but by no means all Americans.

Jewish groups and some small Christian bodies like the Seventh Day Adventists, who observe Saturday as the Sabbath day, have long contended that Sunday observance laws violate the First Amendment's guarantee of governmental neutrality in matters of religion.

IN THE PAST, WITH a single exception, lower courts have upheld the constitutionality of Sunday closing laws. They have ruled that states have a right to enforce a shutdown of general business activity one day a week, not for religious reasons, but to protect the health and welfare of workers. The choice of Sunday for this day of rest may have been prompted originally by the tenets of the Christian faith, the courts have said, but it can now be justified on the grounds of social custom and long-standing tradition.

Teh single exception was a ruling in 1959 by a federal court in Boston. It held Massaschusetts' Sunday law unconstitutional on the grounds that it "furnishes special protection to the dominant Christian sects" and discriminates against those who observe a different Sabbath.

'Psychology' Series Continues at PD

PALM DESERT—Dr. J. Hudson Ballard, one of the outstanding psychologists of the country, will preach at the Palm Desert Community Church on Sunday, at both the 9:30 and 11 o'clock duplicate morning worship services.

The sermon topic will be, "God Curing Discouragement," a message fitting in with the lecture series on "Psychology and Better Living," currently being given in the church on Tuesday evenings.

The worship services will be led by the Rev. William A. Dunlap, interim pastor. Miss Barrie Holdsworth, soprano soloist, will offer the special music in song, accompanied by Mrs. Paul Stillman, organist.

Sunday Church School will be held at 9:30 for children ages fourth grade through high school and at 11 for nursery age through third grade. The Adult Bible Class, Paul Stanley, teacher, meets at 10. Mrs. Roy McCall is superintendent of the church school.

A new feature of the church life is a mid-week Bible study group, led by Rev. Dunlap, on Wednesday evenings at 8.
